My Money Week interactive videos

For the past two My Money Weeks, we created a series of interactive video journeys (along with delivery guides) to help pupils start thinking about the money related decisions they will have to make on a regular basis.

We have included “Max’s Day Out”, the video journey and delivery guide from My Money Week 2019, with the resources for this year’s My Money Week. There is also another video journey, “School Council Decisions”, which you can find in the Resource Archive on the My Money Week Resource Hub.

Both sets of interactive videos come with delivery guides and suggested activities for using them with your pupils. If you have already used the videos with your pupils, why not use the discussion points below to encourage your pupils to further explore the key themes and discuss their learning from the videos.

Learning

What are the three key things you learnt from the videos and why are these things important or relevant to you and your friends?

Sharing

Why are the messages from the videos important? How could you share the messages from the videos with your family and local community?

Developing

How do you think the story continues? What do you think will be the next money decision for the characters?

Thinking ahead

What have you learnt about managing your money from these videos? Is there anything else you’d like to learn about money?

Extension opportunity

You could challenge pupils to write their own script or story around the themes of the videos.

These videos have been designed to help pupils start thinking about the money related decisions they will have to make on a regular basis.

Technical Requirements

To play the videos you will need access to the internet and YouTube, ideally the latest version of the browser you are using (IE, Chrome, Firefox etc.) and you will need JavaScript and cookies enabled for everything to work as it should.
